THE MUNICIPAL COURT QUESTION.

Decision of the Supreme Court.

The following are the points decided by the Supreme Court on Saturday, in the habeas corpus case recently appealed from the county court of this county. The order of Judge SMITH, it will be seen, is reversed, though the constitutionality of the Municipal Court is not enquired into:

"In the matter of Bridget Boyle, Petitioner on Habeas Corpus, vs. A. J. Langworthy, Sheriff, &c.

1. The act establishing the Municipal Court in the county of Milwaukee is a general law, and could not be in force until published.

2. It having been published in the volume of private laws of 1859, it was in force after such publication. And its non-publication in the volume of general laws, arising out of an improper classification of it, does not defeat its operation.

3. After the law went into force, the offices of Judge and Clerk of said Court were legal offices. And although at the time of their election the law was not in force, yet an election having been held and these officers declared elected, and having entered upon the actual discharge of the duties, they were, after the law took effect by publication, officers de facto, and their right to hold the offices cannot be enquired into collaterally on this proceeding.

4. The certificate of the Secretary of State annexed to the volume of Private Laws of 1859, being dated on the 29th day of June, and he being only authorized to make such certificate after the publication of the laws is completed, the Court will, at least in the absence of any allegation or proof to the contrary, hold the act to have been in force from that date.

The order of the County Judge must be reversed."

FRANK HYDE of the Oxford Express having retired from the Editorial chair, that paper will henceforth be devoted to Republican interests. In giving up the keys to Dr. S. A. PEASE, FRANK thus drops a tear over the case.

It is expected that under the new administration the paper will be Republican in politics. This is our greatest regret in parting with the office. It pains us to know that the little types that were first used on the Madison Patriot, then on the Marquette Express, the little types that have served us so faithfully, that have never promulgated a thought opposed to pure Democracy, should be pressed into the service of the enemy and forced to disgrace themselves and black their pretty faces in the advocacy of Republican principles.

DISCOVERY OF AN ISLAND.—The New Bedford Mercury learns by a private letter, that Capt. ROBERT D. ELDRIDGE, of the barque Amazon, of Fairhaven, has discovered an island in the Pacific Ocean, several hundred miles from any laid down on the charts. The letter was dated at sea, January 16th, 1859, and in it Captain ELDRIDGE says of the island:

It is in lat. 0° 55′ north, and long. 176° 35′ west, very low and dangerous, and is, I expect, the last resting place of the crew of some of the ships which have been missed in years gone by. I ran along the lee side within pistol shot of the beach, but it was too rough to land; and after convincing myself that there were no living people on the island, squared away again. On the highest part of the island is a house apparently built from pieces of a wreck, with a flag-staff at at one end, from which still dangled the halyard block. Near the house were several little hummocks, each with a tall upright stone upon it, evidently the graves of the poor fellows who had escaped from the wreck of their vessel, and died on this dreary spot, where perhaps they had spent months in vainly looking for a passing vessel to relieve them from their weary prison.

A. B. NICHOLS and JAS. OSCANNE are elected delegates to the Republican State Convention, from the Kenosha Assembly District.

J. W. WEBSTER, and F. ROBINSON are the delegates to the Democratic State Convention.

EXPLOSION AND LOSS OF LIFE.—The steamer M. Whiter burst her boiler on the 17th inst, when coming down the lake from Chester with 6 load of stone. Two men were killed and another badly hurt and scalded. About 6 o'clock P. M. the boat was stopped to make some repairs to the rudder, which had become damaged, and, in less than five minutes, the boiler burst, killing Lawrence Gates and Seth Lake. Capt. Winter, at the time, was on the wheel making the repairs, and was blown into the water. Mr. Lake lived about an hour after the accident occurred. The body of Mr. Gates has not been found. At the time of the explosion there was about sixty pounds of steam on, and two guages of water. The boat is an entire wreck. The accident occured a few miles from the head of the lake, opposite Schoenmann's Point. There was no insurance on the boat; loss about two thousand five hundred dollars. Those killed were young unmarried men, and industrious deserving citizens. Mr. Gates was one of the heavy losers in the destructive fire here last spring.—Horicon Argus, 18th.

MR. WM. B. MANLEY, of this place, was badly injured by his horse while in Grange Hill, Stephenson County, Ill. While harnessing it to start home, for some reason it kicked and hit him in the forehead, over the left eye, cutting and bruising it badly, and rendering him insensible for a time. The wounds were immediately dressed in a skilful manner, and he is now doing well. The bone was not injured. This was a narrow escape.—Brodhead Reporter, Aug. 18.

A FIGHT.—Last Saturday evening, in Decatur, Chester Kingman and T. Merrit, engaged in a fight, which resulted in the stabbing of Kingman in the shoulder, by Merrit, with a pocket knife, making a very severe wound. He was also cut in other places, making it, on the whole, a severe affair. The cause of the fight we have not been able to learn, but probably some "old grudge" which had been pending some length of time.—Brodhead Reporter, Aug. 19.

Election of General Houston—What South Carolina Thinks of It.

From the Charleston Courier.

As the smoke of the late contest clears away in Texas, it becomes more and more apparent that he has been elected Governor of that State. A few years ago, in consequence of his reputed affiliation with the Know Nothings, and of his decided opposition of the Kansas-Nebraska act, he lost, apparently, every particle of popularity he once enjoyed in Texas. In a trial of strength with Runnells, the gentleman whom he has just beaten, he was defeated by something like 10,000 majority, and soon afterwards failed to secure a re-election to the Senate of the United States. Apparently he had completely scuttled off the political coil, and when he delivered his valedictory to the Senate in February, no one believed that SAM would again play a part in the politics of the country. Indeed General Houston's talk was of the philosophical resignation to the inevitable fate of all politicians, and his declarations were of having grown weary of political life, and of having become disgusted with its cares. His national aspirations and base treachery to his section and the slave institutions of the South had destroyed him, notwithstanding his great former services, his personal popularity, and his eloquence and adroitness in speaking. The old self-seeker fell, and hoped to rise no more in Texas.

Upon returning home, however, his views underwent a sudden change, and he entered the lists against his former competitor, Gov. Runnells.

The State Rights party of Texas started an unnecessary and disastrous issue. They made the reopening of the slave trade the great question in the election, dividing their own party and driving off many. The speeches of the canvass were filled chiefly with this subject. Houston saw his advantage, mounted the Opposition and has ridden to victory over those who, on State Rights grounds and resistance to Northern aggression, had beaten him to the earth by overwhelming odds. To the advantage given him by this issue were added the memories of the past, which completed the work of his success.

He canvassed the State most actively—everywhere revived, among his old comrades in arms, recollections of San Jacinto and of the early glories and sufferings of the founders of the Republic, melted his audience to tears, and wept with great effect himself, as the result shows.

The State Rights Party of Texas have brought defeat upon themselves by making an impracticable and mischievous issue. Let it be a lesson to be remembered. The people of the South should be informed on the subject; but to make it matter for voting, and a living issue, dividing one people, is a foolish and fatal move. Let the subject be considered calmly and thoroughly sifted by discussion merely. When the South is in a position to act on it, it will be time enough to make it an issue. But until then such a use of it is only fraught with evil. In this instance it has paralyzed the State Rights Party of Texas, and raised to power one of the greatest enemies to the South, and most unmitigated demagogues within our borders—a Southern Free Soiler.

The Louisville Courier on the Popularity of Senator Douglas.

From the Cincinnati Commercial.

The Courier is the representative of the State of Kentucky of the Administration.—His senior proprietor is Collector of the Port of Louisville. It is edited with vigor and pluck, and has exercised a marked influence on the Kentucky campaign just closed. In the beginning of the canvass the Douglas faction had all things their own way. They had defeated Linn Boyd's aspirations for the Gubernatorial candidacy, and adopted a platform to suit their convenience; and they were going along swimmingly, talking about Popular Sovereignty, Cincinnati Platform, John C. Breckinridge for Senator in the first place and President afterward, and Douglas for a big gun to be used in bombarding the moon. The Louisville Courier suddenly spoiled this fun. It came out for Congressional intervention for the protection of Slavery in the territories; repudiated with scorn and indignation the Douglas heresy of squatter sovereignty; took the same position on the slavery question as that of Bell, the opposition candidate for Governor; declared twenty times in a day that the politician could not live in Kentucky who was not in favor of the protection of slavery in the territories. The result was an awful climbing down of the squatter sovereigns. Breckinridge became invisible in the smoke. The Democratic party became in favor of the protection of slave property in the territories at all hazards, and abominated squatter sovereignty as abolitionism in disguise. In working this revolutionary change, the Courier was the principal performer. Recently the Courier has taken to the discussion of the popularity of Senator Douglas. In yesterday's issue it said:

"What are the evidences of the strength of Douglas? He did not get the popular vote of his own State last fall by several thousand. True, he beat Lincoln for the Senate, but this victory was won by carrying certain Legislative districts, where money and intrigue could be used to advantage. Lincoln got a very much larger vote in the State than Douglas did, and, therefore, if the Louisville Democrat wants an available candidate to carry Illinois, why don't the editor suggest Lincoln? Surely Lincoln will come nearer to carrying Illinois than Douglas, as the late race between them clearly indicates. Lincoln can beat Douglas in Illinois from five to ten thousand votes, and if success is the main object, Lincoln is a better man.

"But what other Northern States can Douglas certainly carry when put up for success? Is there not a Democrat in each one of the Northern States who would come nearer to carrying his own State than Douglas did Illinois? Would not Lane more certainly carry Oregon? Would not Bright come nearer Indiana, and Dickinson, New York, and Dallas Pennsylvania, and Pierce New Hampshire?

"And then when we look at the South, what chance has the available Douglas there? Can he carry a single Slave State? We unhesitatingly say that he cannot. There are politicians in each one of the Southern States who care for Douglas, but the masses of the people will stand out against him as they did in years past against Van Buren, and as they now would against Seward or Giddings. It is all nonsense to talk of the strength of Douglas in the South. Southerners are men of principle who follow neither wire-workers, nor demagogues, nor time-servers, nor professional politicians, nor spoilsmen, nor plunderers. They will not take Douglas under any circumstances in 1860—not even to enable him to reward his noisy adherents all over the land with the spoils of executive patronage."

Dodging Redemption.

We understand that within the last fortnight a number of the banks of this State have virtually refused to redeem their issues. The course these institutions pursue when bills are presented for redemption, is as follows: The bills are first counted, and in a manner so deliberate as to show that the consumption of the greatest possible amount of time is the leading purpose of the officers of the bank. This accomplished, the work of redemption is commenced in ten and five cent pieces, which are counted in the same slow and deliberate manner in which the bills had been counted. A gentleman who has the curiosity to time the operation, in one instance, ascertained the rate to be about $300 per day. A little over thirty-three days would, therefore, be consumed in the redemption of a package of $10,000. Among the banks pursuing this course, we have heard mentioned, the Merchant's Bank at Carmi, the Bank of Illinois, at New Haven, Gallatin County Bank, the Bank of the Republic, E. I. Tinkham & Co.'s Bank, and the Bank at McLeansboro, Hamilton County, all of which, we believe, are owned in Chicago. We are told that it is a common practice with many of the owners of these institutions to scour the city and country for dimes and half dimes with which to make a show of redemption, while practically blocking the wheels of that interesting process.

We believe there is a case now pending before the Courts of this State, which is intended to test the legality of this mode of defeating a plain requirement of our banking law. We cannot doubt but that the decision will be adverse to the banks. Should it not, the banks of the State will be virtually released from all obligations to redeem their issues. We look, however, for a different result. We trust the case will be pressed to a decision, and that, should the courts decide against us, the "dime dodge," all the banks have resorted to it, and all that contemplate, that or some other mode of evading the law—which two classes we presume includes every bank in the State—will be promptly forced into redeeming their issues or into liquidation. If it be possible, we are decidedly in favor of putting our currency upon a par basis or of driving it out altogether. The interests of everybody but the currency-makers require the realization of one or the other of these alternatives.—Chicago Tribune, Saturday, Aug. 20.

The Trial Trip of the Steamship Detroit.

The steamship Detroit, of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway line, Captain McBride, made her trial trip yesterday. She left the dock about 12 o'clock, and went up the lake twenty miles or more, merely for the purpose of testing her engines and "limbering up" for actual service. A considerable party were on board, all of whom voted the trip an agreeable one, and the ship a splendid success.—The boat glided very pleasantly through the water, and, with a considerable sea, there was no perceptible rocking. The engine performed admirably though its power was, of course, not tested. On the return, twelve miles was made in forty minutes, with thirty pounds of steam and sixteen revolutions in a minute. But this is a greater speed than is ordinarily designed to be made—the usual rate being from fifteen to sixteen miles an hour. It was the universal remark among Captains, Engineers and steamboat men on board that they had never seen an engine perform better on the start, nor a boat more complete in its appointments.

During the trip there was a gathering in the Saloon, and several sentiments were proposed and drank, among them were the following:

The success of the Steamship Detroit; The steamers Detroit and Milwaukee, noble specimens of the handiwork of Buffalo mechanics; The health and Messrs. Mason & Bidwell, the builders; The health of Messrs. Shepard, the engine builders; The health of Geo. L. Burns, the painter; The health of Capt. McBride; but the toast of the occasion was, "The health of Julius Movius," without him, it was insisted, none of these blushing recipients of honor could have covered themselves with glory. In response, Mr. Movius made such a speech as is his wont, explaining away all the credit which had been awarded him, and proposed the health of Messrs. Brydges and Reynolds, the President and Vice-President of the Detroit and Milwaukee Railway, the gentlemen for whom he had acted in the construction of the steamers which had proved satisfactory.

The following are the officers of these steamers, all of whom have been selected for their peculiar fitness for the positions they hold:

STEAMER DETROIT.

Captain—H. MCBRIDE.
1*st Officer*—James Knight.
2*d* " Mark Morrison.

CHANCELLOR LATHROP.—We understand that Hon J. H. Lathrop, late Chancellor of the University, has finally decided to accept the position tendered him as head of a Collegiate Institution in Indiana, and hence will withdraw from his present position.—Madison Journal, Aug. 19.

THE CITY.

SENTINEL READING ROOM.

WE have opened in connection with our new Counting Room, 207 East Water st., a Reading Department, where all the leading Daily Papers in the United States and Canada are regularly placed on file, for the benefit of those who may wish to see them. Strangers visiting the city are invited to avail themselves of our "Free Reading Room" at their pleasure.

Another Excursion to the Falls.

Another excursion will leave here on Tuesday next, 23d, in the Grand Haven boat for the Suspension Bridge arriving there in time to witness BLONDIN's next great feat. The tickets will be only $10—to and return, and will be good until the Saturday following.—We understand quite a large party will go from here. As it is understood BLONDIN will do something dreadful this time, we can readily anticipate the excitement that will prevail.

This is in every sense a delightful trip, visitors passing through Detroit and over one of the most picturesque roads in the country; the Falls, Suspension Bridge, rapids and thousands of people who will congregate there forming quite an interesting subject for the tourist.

Gems from the Wisconsin.

PORTABLE TASTES.—The melon season has fairly commenced, and we doubt not the lovers of fruit of this description will gratify their tastes, as they are coming in by this wagon load. They are worth 20 a 35c.—Wisconsin of Saturday.

DIRTY MACHINES.—The wheat was cleaned as it comes from the threshing machine from all foreign substances, better than the majority of machines before the public.

HOW TO CELEBRATE.—The following is given in the same fatherly manner, that so provoked our merchants not long since. In speaking of the reception of the new steamers he advises:

Let each one illuminate his own building, or in case of a total, a building occupied by different parties, let all club together and contribute, and in this way the expense will be but a trifle to individuals.

Excellent advice that. If some one would illuminate the Wisconsin office, it would throw a stream of light through the entire community. Immediately following, he, having forgotten what was just written, adds:

Let an illumination be determined upon at least of all the principal buildings in the business part of the city.

And a little further on:

We certainly, then, can afford an illumination, besides the general reception and hospitalities that are to be extended to the guests while they are in the city.

He then treats of it in its scenic and moral effects upon the visitors:

It would then seem to them as if we were in earnest, as if they were indeed meeting with a noble welcome, and the expense would not fall heavily on anybody.

It is undoubtedly desirable that the expense should not seem to the visitors to fall heavily upon anybody.

The whole of this chapter on illuminations, after many regrets at the backwardness of the merchants, and like nonsense, ends up with the following assertion:

An illumination in the evening will close the duties and pleasures of the day.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS' EXCURSION.—The committee having in charge the excursion to Sheboygan on the Gazelle, and thence to Sheboygan Falls on the cars of the S. & M. R. R., are leaving nothing undone to make the trip the most pleasant one of the season.

At a special meeting of the Queen City Lodge, Friday evening, the plans of the committee were perfected, and Capt. B. C. HIBBARD was appointed as Marshal of the day. The members of the order and their friends are to meet at Good Templars' Hall, in Bowman's Block, near the Custom House, at precisely 7 o'clock on Wednesday morning, the 24th, and from thence they will be escorted to the steamer at the foot of Main street, by the American Cornet Band, Capt. LEAVITT, which has been engaged for the excursion. Omnibusses will be furnished for the ladies by Mr. BROCKWAY, to take them to the steamer free of charge. The boat will leave the wharf at 8 o'clock precisely. All who desire to accompany the excursionists, should procure tickets before going on board, which may be had at MATSON and LOOMIS' Jewelry Store, A. C. MURISON's Ice Cream Saloon, or of the Committee of Arrangements.

LAGER LOOK OUT.—SAM. S. JOHNSON has been appointed sole Agent for the State of Wisconsin, for the sale of N. LONGWORTH'S celebrated still and sparkling Catawaba wines. He has about $5,000 worth of stock on hand, at 216 East Water street. LONGWORTH'S wines are pronounced equal to the best imported brands. Suppose you try for yourself.

FOR RENT.—J. S. FILLMORE has a good house, cistern, well, gas and all conveniences. House on Cass street, between Biddle and Martin. Rent, $300.

THE NEW STEAMERS.—We learn, by dispatches from Buffalo, that the new steamers Detroit and Milwaukee, which are to leave there to-day on their way to this Lake, will be filled up with Eastern Excursionists.—Some of our citizens thought of going to Detroit, to meet the steamers there, and come round in them to Milwaukee. We are very sure, however, that they will much prefer to see these boats crowded with gentlemen from the East, and thus to afford our friends from the Atlantic States an opportunity of seeing Milwaukee. An excursion will be given to our own citizens, after the boats have reached here.

ERRATA.—In our issue of Saturday, for who read the, and for unt read and. We hasten to make these corrections, as we understand the Clodius of the Wisconsin is getting up a leader about them.

BOARD OF SCHOOL COMMISSIONERS.—A special meeting of the Board of School Commissioners will be held at their room this (Monday) evening, at 7 o'clock.

Republican State Convention.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the City of Madison, in the Assembly Hall of the Capitol on Wednesday, the 31st day of August next, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of nominating candidates for State officers to be supported by the party at the ensuing general election; and to transact any other business that may properly come before it.

As the subject of selecting delegates to the next National Convention may be entertained and acted on by the Convention, it is suggested that the people in their primary caucuses, and the district conventions make such expression as will intimate to their delegates and the State Convention, the general sentiment of the State on that subject.

Each Assembly District will be entitled to two delegates in the Convention.

It is recommended that District Conventions for the selection of delegates be held throughout the State, on or before the 25th day of August, and that committees make early calls for that purpose; and it is especially urged that every district be duly represented in the Convention.

"The Impending Crisis of the South."

As we have already informed our readers, the work was written by Mr. Helper, a resident of North Carolina, who states that his ancestors have been residents of that State for between one and two hundred years.

His book, written in the middle of the 19th Century, by a statement of the most striking and startling facts, vindicated the sagacity, the wisdom and the patriotism of Washington, Jefferson, Henry and the entire generation of men who lived at the close of the 18th Century; the men who achieved our Independence, established our Free Institutions, and firmly believed, and boldly avowed that SLAVERY WAS A CURSE.

We propose to present our readers, from time to time, with an abstract of some of these extraordinary facts, and we earnestly invite for them a careful perusal and serious consideration.

The author commences his work by instituting a comparison between the Free and the Slave States, showing the advantage of the former over the latter, in relation to increase of population and commercial prosperity. He commences with

NEW YORK AND VIRGINIA.

In 1790, when the first census was taken, Virginia contained a population of..... 748,308
New York..... 340,120

Excess of population in favor of Virginia..... 408,188
More than two to one in favor of Virginia.

After the lapse of sixty years, the census of 1850 gave New York a population of..... 3,097,394
Virginia..... 1,421,661

Showing that, although Virginia started in the race with more than two to one in her favor, at the end of two generations, the excess of the population of New York over Virginia was..... 1,675,733
More than two to one in favor of New York.
The commercial statistics show a still more astonishing result.

In 1791, the exports of Virginia amounted to $3,730,565
Of New York to..... 2,005,685

Excess in favor of Virginia..... $824,880
In 1852 the exports of New York amounted to..... $51,483,566
Of Virginia to..... 2,721,657

Excess in favor of New York..... $48,789,209
In 1-58 the imports of New York amounted to..... $175,270,206
Of Virginia to..... 3,3-6,664

Excess in favor of New York..... $172,571,605
In 1860, the mining, manufacturing and mechanical products of New York amounted to..... $237,397,240
Of Virginia to..... 29,702,951

Excess in favor of New York..... $207,691,502
The whole value of real and personal estate of New York, at the taking of the last census was..... $1,050,920,216
Of Virginia, including the value of all her negroes..... 291,647,498

Excess in favor of New York..... $955,562,557

We pause for the present, and ask our readers to ponder over these extraordinary facts and results. Sixty years ago, when these two States started in the race for wealth and power, Virginia had the advantage of more than two to one in her favor. The above statistics show that a most extraordinary change had taken place. Such startling effects can only proceed from a great cause.—What is that mighty cause? Sixty years ago our ancestors, both North and South, believed and declared that Slavery was "a great curse." New York has evinced her sincerity in that belief, by abolishing that curse. Virginia has changed her sentiments in regard to Slavery, and now holds that it is "a great blessing."

Behold the result in the comparative prosperity of the two States, the melancholy decadence of the one, and the unexampled growth and prosperity of the other. How long will the men of the South shut their eyes and close their understandings to the great truth so loudly and emphatically proclaimed by God's providence, that Slavery is indeed a blasting, withering curse? How long will Northern demagogues lend their political influence to aid in the extension and perpetuation of this unmixed, unmitigated evil?—Albany Journal.

A GRAND VOYAGE.—Certainly we ought to be very liberal-minded people to dwell in a country that has within its borders a river navigable for a distance of more than three thousand miles!

The St. Louis Republican announcing the return of the steamer Spread Eagle—for once a befitting appellation—has the following:—"The steamer Spread Eagle, in connection with the Chippewa, has just completed one of the most remarkable trips on record in the navigation of the Western rivers, having traversed the Missouri from its mouth to Fort Benton—a point within sixty miles of the head waters of the Columbia, and three thousand one hundred and twenty miles above the mouth of the Missouri. This is nine hundred miles above the mouth of the Yellow Stone, and seven hundred miles farther than any other steamboat has ever been.

The Spread Eagle left St. Louis on the 28th day of May—three days after the Chippewa, and returned, having made a voyage of more than 6,200 miles in seventy-nine days. The Indians were quiet, and expressed themselves well satisfied with their presents.—Game above the mouth of the Yellow Stone was very abundant. Large bands of buffalo, elk, and mountain sheep might be seen at any moment, together with any quantity of grizzly bear. The trip has been demonstrated to be practicable, the Chippewa having made it in low water.

THE SEA SERPENT—THE MONSTER CAUGHT.—The Yarmouth (Mass.) Register says that the far-famed sea-serpent has lately visited that port, and was chased up a narrow creek and caught. He turned out to be a horse mackerel, measuring over eight feet in length, and weighing 316 pounds. The Register says:

"It is the opinion of experienced fishermen that this is the fish which has given rise to the belief in a sea serpent. When it is running at its ordinary speed in search of prey, it moves along just under the surface of the water, producing a wave which rises up in a series of corrugations for about one hundred feet in a straight line, before it falls off into the ordinary spreading wake produced by a body moving through the water. This appearance in moderate weather so closely resembles that of a huge serpent moving over the surface of the water, that it is difficult even for those accustomed to the appearance, to realize that it is nothing but a wave, and it is not strange that, when seen for the first time, it should strike the beholder with terror.

NEXT to the wonder how the milk got into the cocoa-nut, came George the Third's marvel how the apple got into the dumpling.—This has been succeeded by the question why white ashes should come from coal, when coals are so deuced black?

A "WISE MAN OF GOTHAM" made his servant sleep in a chamber adjoining his own. He cried out to him on one occasion, "George, am I asleep?"—"Yes, sir," replied the conscientious George.—"Ah, good!"

HE that is good will infallibly become better, and he that is bad will certainly become worse; for vice, virtue and time are three things that never stand still.—Colton.

The Teacher's National Convention.

WASHINGTON, Aug., '58.

Editors of the State Journal:—Last night it was decided by the Executive Committee of the National Teachers Association to hold the next annual meeting (2d Wednesday in August, 1860) at Madison, Wis.

Upon the first vote in committee, the ballot stood, Buffalo 7, Madison 5, with other votes for Pittsburg and Cleveland.

I trust this selection will be very satisfactory to our citizens, as calculated to bring Madison widely into notice as a great educational site, and that it will be met in a spirit of generosity and hospitality such as distinguishes our city. Yours truly,

THE SUNDAY REFORM QUESTION.—The Missouri Democrat takes a sensible, as well as a philanthropic view of a question that is just now attracting a great deal of attention:

The Sunday movement in this city, we are rejoiced to perceive, wears none of the lineaments of a fanatical crusade. The object it seeks to accomplish is a well-defined and simple one, namely: the suppression of the sale of all intoxicating liquors on that day. Whether the arguments advanced by the authors of the movement are not as applicable to every day of the week as well as to Sunday, and whether the ultimate logical result of these arguments would not be a total prohibition of the sale of intoxicating liquors, we shall not now examine. We cheerfully do the reformers the justice of acknowledging that they are not laboring to convert the city into a vast prison-house one day in the week, as in Philadelphia and Chicago, where strenuous efforts are making to prevent the running of omnibusses and horse-railroads on Sunday. The theology which refuses the harmless recreation of a ride, and the invigorating luxury of country air to the tired children of toil, in the almost tropical heat of this season, is in spirit rather Judicial than Christian. Burly Opulence may roll in his carriage, silver-mounted, through the cool suburban shades, without exciting the ire of the watchful Pharisee; but Lazarus, seeking to enjoy his hebdomadal relaxation from the primeval mandate, must not, it seems, be suffered to pass from the copper sky and iron pavement of the city! Happily the spiritual blockade which would deny egress to the latter, from the close and sweltering lane or alley in which his domicil may stand, on the only day that he is exempt from toil, has not been extended to St. Louis, so we are only called upon to consider whether the sale of intoxicating liquors should be authorized or prohibited on Sunday; whether saloons and beer gardens should be permitted to traffic on that day, as on all other days of the week.

Without entering into a disquisition on the Sabbath, or rather on the peculiar character of Sunday, the day which has succeeded it among Christians, we may be permitted to remark that its peculiarity and distinction are universally recognized wherever Christianity is professed. We grant that the right to enforce a certain theory of the Sunday in the whole community resides in no party and in no church; we grant with equal readiness the right of any portion of the community to spend the Sunday according to their own fashion, provided they do not interfere with others; but we protest against all rules and regulations, the operations of which are calculated to give that day a pre-eminence in profligacy and debauchery over all other days of the week. From this it follows that the hours usually alloted to divine service should not be disturbed by military processions; accompanied by the blowing of trumpets, and the waving of flags and banners.—It follows with equal directness that the venders of liquors, whether distilled, vinous or fermented, should suspend their labors for the same period. But as the day was made not for the saints alone, we hold that he who denies it recreation to sip his glass of beer or wine in the open air, has a perfect right to spend his Sunday grunting in the Beer Garden. His homestead may be narrow, his family large, his opportunities of meeting his few, his means of accommodating them and procuring entertainment for himself still more restricted.

Under such circumstances the beer garden where he may enjoy congenial society, a harmless beverage (taken in moderation,) and whatever truant breeze a July or August evening may send forth, is an essential appendage to his domestic life, and conducive in no small degree to his ease and comfort.—We confess there are spectacles now-a-days very common, which should be summarily abolished. The car is stormed by loud and discordant music from hundreds of basement saloons: From night till morning these places are the scene of uproarious revels, scarlet-women acting as cup-bearers to the boisterous Bacchanalians. These orgies of rowdyism and harlotry should at least be restricted by regular hours. Such places as these we are contemplating are dens of licentiousness—caves of Comas and the Satyrs, and should be closed by the guardian angel of modern society, the policeman, at the stroke of the clock. No place of the kind, no drinking saloon, beer-garden, hall or theatre should be permitted to keep open a moment after twelve o'clock.

Acknowledging a sincere desire to see the Sunday a day devoted to rest, religious exercises and innocent recreation, we cannot, nevertheless, advocate the prohibition of the sale of all vinous and fermented liquors on that day. Men cannot be legislated into total abstinence. The appetite denied legitimate indulgence is not thereby suppressed. But what we do not desire to see prohibited, we wish to see strictly regulated. Between the hours of 9 A. M. and 4 P. M. on Sunday no alcoholic liquors of any description, including beer, should be permitted to be sold; and Sunday and week day, no cup should be lifted from the moment the clock struck the midnight hour. License rather than law reigns at present. That a reform is needed cannot be questioned. The radical defect dwells in the statutes of the State, and their revision on a proper basis may be the first practicable step toward the attainment of the reform, the need of which is so generally confessed. We close by repeating that any reform which contemplates prohibition will be certain to defeat itself.

Shocking Death by Lightning and Killing of Two Men.

The heavy thunder storm which visited this region of country on Saturday afternoon was attended with loss of life under rather frightful circumstances, of which the following are the particulars:—Early in the afternoon Mr. George H. Hall, a cedar cooper, residing at No. 42 Cider Alley, in the rear of the Lombard street University of Medicine, proceeded in company with his two sons to the Spring Gardens for the purpose of fishing. Procuring a boat, they pushed from shore, and engaged in angling until the first heavy shower of rain fell, when they pulled to the shore and sought refuge under the trees on the Anne Arundel side of the water, and near the Long Bridge. The father and his eldest son, William, stopped under one tree, and the younger son under another close by, where they remained for over a half hour in seeming security until the second shower fell, when a sharp and vivid flash of lightning struck the tree under which the father and son were, and glancing off passed along the body of the father, striking upon the head first and then descending to the feet.

At the same time a portion of the fluid struck the son who was standing near, and death was the instantaneous result. The younger son, George H., Jr., who is not more than fourteen years of age, perceiving what had occurred, and dreadfully alarmed by the close proximity of the electric shock, started for home, and without stopping to rest, ran all the way to the house, nearly three miles distance, to inform his mother of the awful occurrence. Soon as the rain subsided, a number of persons who had also taken shelter in the woods near the shore, proceeded to the fatal spot and made arrangements for the removal of the bodies. They were placed in the boat used by the deceased and rowed to the northern shore of the Patapsco, and in a short time appeared Mr. Bernard Collins, of Mitchell's Hotel, Paca street, and conveyed them home in a vehicle. Dr. Battee, Coroner of the Southern District, on hearing of the affair, summoned a jury and proceeding to the house held an inquest, a verdict being rendered of death from being struck by lightning.

Both bodies bear evidence of the cause of death. That of the father is discolored from the crown of the head to the ankles, whilst the face and neck are not only inflamed, but scorched deep red and bluish colors. The clothes which he had on were rent in slits and burned so as to be rendered utterly useless. A pair of long gunning boots were perforated in many places as though they had been fired at with buckshot, and one of them was torn completely off his foot. The boots worn by his son also exhibit many similar holes, and it seems to have been through these that the lightning passed out and exhausted its power. One of the boots worn by the son was ripped on one side but otherwise uninjured. A two-foot brass-bound rule in the pantaloons pocket of the father likewise attests the great power and intense heat of the fluid. On both ends the thick brass band is partially melted, as well as a portion of the edge near the center of the rule. Several articles, which it is well known he had in his pocket, have not been found; they were doubtless destroyed by the fluid. Yesterday, as well as on the preceding night, the house was visited by thousands of persons, curious to witness the bodies and see what peculiar appearance they presented.—Baltimore American, 15th.

THE CINCINNATI TRAGEDY.

The Mystery Clearing Up—Sympathy for the Unfortunate Individuals.

From the Gazette of Thursday.

We have very little to add to yesterday's account of the facts immediately connected with the tragedy of Tuesday night.

We learn that Officer Mahister, on Monday night, saw De Marbais sitting on the steps of the Assignation House, on Plum street, crying. He was asked what was the matter.—He replied that his wife was in there, and was in the habit of going there. As he appeared to be in liquor, he was advised to go home, and he went off, saying that if matters didn't change before the week was over there would be a murder.

To gratify the numerous inquiries as to the history of De Marbais, we present the following account, which we believe to be perfectly reliable: De Marbais' father was a Frenchman, his mother an English or American woman. His parents were married in this country, and he was born at Baltimore. His father is dead, but his mother is now living in New York, and was yesterday informed by telegraph of the critical condition of her son and of the tragic acts, of which it was the result. He was a druggist by profession, and understood his business well. About eighteen months since he married his wife Blanche, in New York. She was at the time reputed to have been the mistress of a wealthy man in California, who had supported her in luxury and ease, for two or three years. De Marbais was aware of her reputation, we learn, when he married her. Some time after his marriage he went to Philadelphia, where he was placed on trial for forgery, but was honorably acquitted.

Disgusted with Philadelphia, he returned to New York with the intention of removing to the West. In New York he met a person who promised to find him a situation if he would settle in Cincinnati. He accordingly came to Cincinnati about a year ago, and was employed in Scanlan's Drug store. Five or six months ago the person who had found the situation for DeMarbais, being East, learned that DeM. had been tried for forgery, and upon his return he informed DeM.'s employers that he should no longer be responsible for DeM.'s conduct.

This remark eventuated in DeMarbais losing his situation, and from that time dated his misfortune. Unable to get employment, or the means of subsistence, he would have starved, had not his wife, by her shame, carried their bread. It is said that DeMarbais had a regular fisticuff fight with the "Drug Clerk" in the street, and charged his misfortunes upon him. And it is further said that this clerk followed De Marbais with an unrelenting vindictiveness that kept him effectually out of work. Whether Blanche's beauty had anything to do with this, we can't say.

Read in the light which this account throws upon them, De Marbais' letters are of a comparatively easy interpretation. The following sentence evidently refers to this trial for forgery:

So goes the people of Cincinnati. His man does wrong once, not like the good Samaritan, help him up again. No, they trample him down, down and never give him a chance to get a monthful.

A good deal of romantic talk was set in motion about this affair yesterday. It was said that he had been exiled from France, &c., &c.

But our account comes from a source which entitles it to full credit.

De Marbais and his wife lay at the Hopital all day yesterday, without much change in their condition. They were kept asleep with morphine. Towards evening they grew worse, and at eleven o'clock there was but little hope of their recovery.

Alluding to the DE MARBAIS affair editorially, the Gazette says:

The peculiarly French denouement to a "tragedy" begun long before last Tuesday night, and elsewhere than at the corner of Plum and Eighth streets, has not averted public sympathy from the pair whose sad fortunes were thus brought prominently to notice. Whatever the previous history of DE MARBAIS (about which there is enough of mystery to make the case romantically interesting,) there can be but one opinion as to the course of the "clerk in the fancy drug store on Fourth street." In promptly discharging this individual, his late employers have gained public approbation, and yesterday there was a tendency, perhaps, to carry the very natural indignation against this mischief-maker to an unwarrantable extreme. His conduct can hardly be too severely censured, yet his punishment will be sufficient without public interference.

Should the parties, thus self-devoted to destruction, recover, as there is probability of their doing, there is a general disposition to see that they are provided for, and put in the way of securing an honorable living. The spirit shown by De Marbais, while certainly not to be commended, in many respects, and least of all these acts of cruel desperation, yet proves him not to be lost to sentiments of honor, or a really abandoned man. Should he survive, and be given that start in life which our community is disposed to give him, his future and that of his family may yet be prosperous and happy.

The Zouave Kick.

A foreign correspondent of the Post relates the following anecdote, illustrative of Zouave system of fighting:

In the recent accounts of the Zouaves we are told that they also employ in battle la Savate, or the act of kicking. Having often heard of this, I one day asked our teacher in the gymnasium at Paris, if he knew it.

"Oh, yes."

"Well, give us a specimen it."

"Very well, place yourself in position as a boxer."

I did so, and he advanced toward me with his hands a little out from his sides, like a wrestler ready to take hold in any way.

"Now, I can kick you on your forward leg; and break the bone or hurt you. While you are disturbed by that, or in case draw it back, I can raise my foot to your stomach or your chin."

"Well, suppose you should kick at my chin, I would catch your foot. Then what would you do?"

"Well, try it."

He kicked, and I caught his foot; but while I held it firmly he turned, threw both hands on the ground to support his body, and instantaneously brought his other foot so near my nose that I let go of his foot in a moment.

"That is very clever. Is there any parry to that?"

"Oh! yes. It is very simple. You do what I did, and I'll show you."

I kicked; he caught my foot; I turned, threw myself on my hands, and thought, of course, to kick him with my other foot; but he simply put one foot firmly against the thigh of my other leg, and I was powerless. There was in his movements also this same startling rapidity. The kicks were like flashes of lightning, and the hands constantly ready for a grapple or a blow. From what I saw I have a most respectful dislike to la Savate, or, as we would say in English, the Old Slave.

A MONSTROUS LUSUS NATURE.—From an authentic source, which forbids us to doubt the truth of the story, the following facts have been received: One day, week before last, the passengers on board a ferry-boat near Quebec were attracted by the singular appearance of a woman who occupied a rather secluded position, and who seemed to be under the care of some persons who acted as if anxious to shield her from observation. Her arms were bandaged, but not so closely as to prevent a constant and very unusual motion, and her head, which was completely covered and hidden from sight, was observed to sway incessantly backward and forward, beneath the folds of cloth. As soon as the ferry-boat reached the shore the figure was conveyed to the train of cars in waiting, and seated therein; but at this moment a sort of struggle and tumult again attracted the notice of the bystanders, and the car was filled with eager inquirers. Those who entered, however, hastily returned, their faces pallid with horror. Among them was the conductor of the train, who begged that no one would approach, for the bandages had been thrown off, and it had been discovered that the creature was a monster, possessing the form of a woman, except the head and arms, which were those of a pig! No mere human resemblance, but the absolute fact. This would seem incredible, were it the only case of the kind. It is known, however, that there lived in Albany, N. Y., a few years ago, a similar creature, having a woman's body and a pig's head; in this instance the arms were human. This being was always kept in close confinement, and never suffered to leave a certain room in the house where those who had charge of her resided, excepting when no visitors were about. She could talk imperfectly, and was capable of some degree of mechanical labor, for her sewing was said to be very beautiful. Her head was in every respect that of a pig,—no particular was wanting,—ears, bristles, even tusks, all were there. This creature died at the age of about thirty-five years, after having been for some time destitute of the little reason she once possessed.—Boston Courier, 10th.

PRENTICE says in a late number of the Louisville Journal:

"The Spartans" is the name of a secret Democratic Association in the city of Buffalo. It hardly needs the power of association to teach Democrats the Spartan virtues of stealing and concealing.

In a late trial for the amount of a tailor's bill, it appeared that the clothes supplied did not fit the defendant. "Then," observed the judge, "we must proceed according to lex taliorunis, and the plaintiff must be non-suited."

The Great Show.

Just opened 100,000 curiosities and performance, in the Lector Room, which may be found twoo Bear Constrictors, mail and female. Also! a striped Algebra, stuft. Beside a pair of Shuttle Cocks and one Shuttle Hen—alive! The sword witch Gen. Wellington fit with at the battle of Waterloo!—Whom is six feet long and broad in proportion. A normous Rattle Tael Snake—a regular whopper; and the tushes of a Hippopotonese, together with a Bengal Tiger: Spotted Leprosy!

GRAND SPECTACLE OF "MT. VESUVIUS."

PART ONE.

Scen opens. Distant Moon. View of Bay of Naples. A thin smoke arises. It is the beginning of the eruption. The Naples folks begins to travel. Taller fire, followed by silent thunder. Awful consternation. Sithin rumbles. It is the mounting preparing to vomit! They call upon the Fire Department. It's no use. Flight of steel-pigeons. A cloud of impenetrable smoke hangs over the fatal city through which the Naplers are seen making tracks. Awful explosion of balls, kurbs, furniquets, pin-wheels, serpentines, tourbillion spirals. The mounting lava begins to squash out. End of part one.

Live injun on the slack wire—Live injun, Mr. Mullett.

Obligations on the Cornucopia, by the Signor Vermicelli—Signor Vermicelli, Mr. Mullett.

In the course of the evening there will be an exhibition of Exhilerating Gas upon Latin Hyghena—Latin Hyghena, Mr. Mullett.

PART TWO.

Boy of Naples luminated by Bengola lites. They have gushes down. Through the smoke is seen the city in a state of conflagration. The lost family!" "Whar is our parents?" In a red hot stone of clevving tons falls into'em. The bear-headed falls scentless before Statue of the Virgin! Denumong! The whole to conclude with grand Shakespearing pyrolignean display of fireworks. Maroon balls changing in a spiral wheel, which changes to the Star of the Union; after to beautiful pints of red lites; to finish with busting into a brilliant perspiration.

During the evening a number of popular airs will be performed on the Scotch Fiddle and Bag Pipes, by a Real Highlander—Real Highlander, Mr. Mullett.

As the Museum is temperance, no drinking aloud; but any one will find the best of liekers in the saloon below—barkeeper Mr. Mullett.

TRIAL AND SENTENCE OF AN AUSTRIAN GENERAL.—The Vienna correspondent of the London Times gives a statement that Count Zedwitz, who commanded the reserve cavalry of the 1st Army on the 24th of June, (Solferino), has been condemned by a court-martial to imprisonment in a fortress for 10 years: but, adds the writer, if such a sentence has been passed on him, it is not likely that it will be put into execution.

THE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY which holds its Fair at Dundee, in October, offers a premium of five dollars to the young lady "who will pare a peck of potatoes in the shortest time and do it the best."

I BELIEVE IT SAVED MY LIFE.—Jacob Wooster, of Bush Creek, New Sewiesly township, says:

"For two years I suffered the Vertigo, Nausea and Headache, attending Dyspepsia, sometimes so severely as to incapacitate me for any effort—at others, to confine me to my bed. My bowels were often so constipated as to oblige me to use the most powerful purgatives to relieve myself. Indeed, I at last found it necessary to use something of the kind constantly. Last fall I commenced taking DR. HAVE'S HOLLAND BITTERS, and found it just what my case required. I cannot recommend it too highly, for I believe it saved my life."

TESTIMONIAL.

BOSTON, July 19, 1857.

MESSRS. J. BURNETT & CO.—I cannot refuse to state the salutary effect in my own aggravated case, of your excellent Hair Oil—(Cocoaine.)

For many months my hair has been falling off, until I was fearful of losing it entirely. The skin upon my head became gradually more and more inflamed, so that I could not touch it without pain. This irritated condition I attributed to the use of various advertised hair washes, which I have since been told contain camphene spirit.

By the advice of my physician, to whom you had shown your process of purifying the Oil, I commenced its use the last week in June. The first application allayed the itching and irritation; in three or four days the redness and tenderness disappeared—the hair ceased to fall, and I have now a thick growth of new hair. I trust that others, similarly afflicted, will be induced to try the same remedy.

Yours, very truly,
SUSAN R. POPE.

BAD COUGH, RAISING BLOOD, NIGHT SWEATS CURED.—Mr. Artemus Rudder, of Niles, writes:

For four months I have been troubled with a very bad cough. I got so bad lately that I have at times raised large quantities of blood and some pus. This frightened me, for I thought I had the Consumption. Night after night I was bathed in sweat; so that I was, when I came under your treatment, little better than a "withered bud." I commenced the use of the Ready Relief, Radway's Resolvent, and Regulators, which I got from Dr. Lorimore, of this place. I bathed my chest and throat with Ready Relief, took the Resolvent three times per day, internally, and from one to three Regulators every night. The first night I took the Relief and Resolvent, I slept in peace. I have had no distress from my cough since that night. In two weeks I was completely restored. Have now a good appetite, and am growing quite fat. Very truly;

WEARY.

BY ALICE CARY.

I'm weary, a-weary
Of dust and of books!
I'm tired of the tiniest—
I'm sick of the cleanest—
And long to renew, in
My eyes, the glad looks
Of the wild little vagrants
That live by the brooks.

The strange little vagrants
By wantonness led
To be labor-sharers—
To be water-bearers—
And run through the woods
With their faces flushed red,
Each one with a bright drop
Of dew on her head.

They are servitors, all,
Of my dear little queen;
The pale bear her languor—
The sanguine her anger—
The lowly her over-much
Meekness of mien,
So making her perfectest
Maid ever seen.

When cometh she, casting,
Rude vagrants ye are,
Her charity on ye
In treading upon ye
Her shoulders are brown
And her tiny feet bare,
And her simple hood lined
With her sunshiny hair.

Science, Industry and Invention.

IMPROVED SURVEYORS' CHAIN.—It is impossible to measure the distance between any two points with mathematical precision.—With the old surveyors' chain, in measuring a long distance, the inaccuracy is very considerable. It is said that a variation of 45 deg. in temperature, in measuring 1,000 feet, makes a difference of 3 1-2 inches in the measurement, from the contraction or expansion of the chain. To remedy this, Prof. A. D. Bache designed two large tubes, each containing a set of bars of different metals, so arranged as to compensate each other in expanding or contracting. This apparatus has been used in the Coast Survey for measuring the principal base lines, where extreme accuracy is required. With ten or twelve men only, three-quarters of a mile can be measured in a day, with a probable error of not over one-twentieth of an inch.

Wooden bars were originally used in the Coast Survey for measuring base lines, but they were very inaccurate on account of their changes of length from the moisture of the atmosphere. One thousand feet could not be measured twice within an inch on different days, one being damp and the other dry.

To obviate this and other imperfections, Mr. J. M. Grunman, a practical surveyor, has invented and patented a chain which is constructed as follows: The material is tempered steel, and made much lighter than the common chain. The links are connected by eyes in their ends instead of connecting rings and are not as liable to kink. The links may be easily detached so as to change the length of the chain. When great accuracy is required, a thermometer made for the purpose is attached, and a scale showing the expansion or contraction for every 10° of temperature from zero to 150°. For measuring uneven surfaces the chain is held suspended, and a spring balance and level attached to one end to compensate for its sagging.

THE OLD JAVA COFFEE POT.—This is a new invention for boiling coffee without losing the aroma. It consists of a separate vessel filled with cold water, which acts as a cover to the pot. This vessel being of a peculiar form, presents a large extent of cold surface to the steam, which is condensed as rapidly as it is made. It is also applied to pots and kettles for boiling vegetables, meats, &c., thus not only preserving their aroma, but preventing it from filling the house, as it often does with the common utensils. As steam heats many times its weight of water in condensing, it will be necessary to have six or eight times as much water in the condenser as is evaporated in the pot. With a sufficient amount of cold water the device must be effective.

MENEELY'S PATENT CHURCH BELL.—A patent has recently been granted for an improvement in mounting church and other bells, so that they may be turned about in the yoke, thus presenting a fresh surface to the blow of the clapper, and avoiding the liability to break.

IMPROVEMENT IN ELECTRO-PLATING.—Henry Bradbury, of England, has discovered a process by which engraved copper-plates may be protected with an electro deposit of nickel, thus increasing the durability of the plate from 500 to 5,000 impressions.

M. Joubert has also a method of depositing iron for the same purpose. Mr. Bradbury, in a controversy with M. Joubert says:

"Nickel gives a surface kinder, for printing purposes, than either steel, copper, or any of the known metals; the reason being simply that, in addition to hardness, it possesses the smoothest, finest and brightest surface to be obtained from electro-deposition. An engraved copper-plate may be covered and re-covered ad infinitum, thereby preserving the integrity of the original work to an illimitable number of impressions.

"Again, if colored inks made from metals be used, such inks do not in the least degree act upon nickel as they are known to do upon steel and copper. Nickel may be deposited at the same nominal cost as platinum and palladium, viz: from a penny to two-pence per square inch.

The purity and extreme fineness of nickel deposit—its non-oxidation—the facility of throwing it down—its yielding 5,000 impressions and upward from one coating—place the electro-nickel facing immeasurably above electro-iron facing as it has hitherto been done. The number of impressions alone does not constitute the sole merit in this particular application of electro-facing. Electro-iron has hitherto varied from 1,000 to 9,000 impressions, according to M. Joubert's own statement, whereas with proper manipulation there ought not to be any variation.

ANOTHER ICE-BOAT.—The following is a description of Dr. A. H. Trow's invention for ice communication:

It is entirely different from Wiard's boat in its runners, mode of driving, mode of steering and almost everything else. Trow's invention is not intended to carry passengers itself, but is perform on the ice the services which locomotives perform on railroads, and that is to draw the passenger cars or boats after it. This will distribute the weight over a larger space, and render the train less liable to break through.

PATENT IRON CAR.—One of these cars has been recently built at Paterson, N. J., for the Boston and Worcester road, and is in every respect most creditable to the enterprise of the builder. The interior is finished off in the most elegant manner. Every panel has a fine papier mache picture in it, representing some famous view or monument; the seats are capacious, and the ventilators numerous and apparently efficient. The car, owing to the greater thinness of the iron sides, is eight inches wider than the narrow gauge cars are usually, and weighs less, by a ton, than a wooden car of the same dimensions.

INVENTION FOR RAILROAD CARS.—We saw yesterday, says the New Orleans Daily Delta of the 19th inst., a new invention to be placed upon railroad cars, so as to enable them to turn corners at right angles; or nearly so. The invention is very simple, and would astonish almost any one with its simplicity. The whole thing is done by the wheel, and not by any change in the axle, nor by any improved fifth wheel, as most persons would be likely to suppose. The inventor is about filing a caveat for a patent, and when that is secured, the invention will be brought before the public.

THE SENTINEL.

COMMERCIAL.

MILWAUKEE, August 20th, 1859.

Money Matters, &c.

The money market was very quiet last week, as might be inferred from the existing stagnation in other business, and the only improvement to note is a reduction in the price of New York exchange to 2 ₰ cent prem. There was a greater stringency in currency than has been experienced before for several months, and the banks in consequence, were disposed to discriminate pretty closely the offerings for discount. Bank rates 10 ₰ cent, outside rates 1@2 ₰ cent a month. Gold selling at 2 ₰ cent.

Breadstuffs, &c.

The following table shows the movements of breadstuffs at this point for the week ending Saturday, and thus far this year, as compared with the corresponding periods in 1858:

The wheat market on Saturday was quite firm, but we can hardly say that an advance was established; this much we are warranted, however, in saying: that the outside prices of Friday were more willingly paid and all that was on the market went off quickly. Sales did not much exceed 3,000 bushels at 85c for old No. 1; 83@.89c for new No. 1 (uninspected); 76@78c for new extra No. 1, and 77@80c for new extra club. It must be remembered that these are not established grades, but merely reported according to the judgment of the seller in each case. The new inspection will no doubt very essentially alter the present standard. There were no transactions in flour. Oats sold at a range of 27 to 29c, to retail dealers; no shippers buying. There was some enquiry for barley, but none in. Potatoes were still lower. Corn firm and scarce. Hides unchanged. Highwines dull at 24c.

CHICAGO, August 19th.—The receipts by railroads and canal to-day are 3,139 bbls flour, 58,182 bus wheat, 18,505 bus corn, 2,755 bus oats, 62 head of cattle, 193 live hogs and 10 sheep. Shipments the 24,414 bbls flour. The shipments by lake are 360 bbls flour, 78,921 bus corn.

FLOUR—The flour market must not be considered active, merely because a few hundred barrels are sold daily. The facts are, that the amount here is larger than we report from week to week (though not greatly larger,) it being the interest of dealers to make it appear as light as possible; that there have been very few buyers here for many weeks, and few more now than formerly; that the greatest caution is always exercised by buyers; there being no article more fatal to a dealer's profits than damp or musty flour; and that our council prices and the amount here is larger are seldom if ever paid in full. However, as we said yesterday, flour is beginning to move. There are four hundred barrels sold to-day, mostly on private terms, but at prices not varying far from the following: Spring for white winter flour $5.25@5.50; red winter $4.50@5.00; spring wheat double extra $4.00@4.25, spring wheat extra $3.50@3.75; common extra $2.75@3.00; spring wheat superfine $2.50@2.75, rye flour $3.00@3.25. Unbolted corn meal $24.00@26.00 per ton, and bolted $28.00@27.00 per ton.

WHEAT—Wheat was firmer to-day, but not very active. The receipts are not large, but the shipments were light. Winter wheat advanced 2c and spring wheat 1c. We note sales of upwards of 20,000 bushels, among which were of winter wheat 9000 bus No. 1 red in store at 90c and a car load do on track at 89½c, and 1,000 bus No. 2 red winter parcels in store at 85c. Of spring wheat, a few parcels of No. 2 spring at 68@68½c. 6,500 bus in parcels at 69, 1,000 bus at 69½ and 5,000 bus in lots and parcels at 70c. 5,000 bus No. 2 spring to two parcels at 76c, and 1,200 bus together at 77. A car rejected spring at 58c, 600 bus at 56c in store.

CORN—Corn was firm and more active. We note sales of between 20,000 and 30,000 bushels, among which were 1 200 bus No. 1 at 60½, 4,500 do in parcels at 61c, 18,000 bus at 63c on board, and 400 bus canal afloat, at 62c, 1,000 bus No. 1 in store at 60c, 500 bus No. 2 at 56c.

OATS—There is very little demand for oats here and it is impossible to get over 25 or 26c in store for them. In St. Louis there is an active demand for them as high as 34 to 41c. So says the Republican of the 18th. At that rate it would pay to buy oats here and send them there.

BARLEY—There is nothing doing in barley and we quote nominally 40@45c for the best, and 30@35c for inferior.

RYE—Rye is in fair demand, with sales at 56c.

HIGHWINES—There is a larger shipping demand for this commodity, but holders are very firm. Sales are made at 22@23c.

Weekly Review of Milwaukee Markets.

Monday Morning, August 22, 1859.

FARMERS—If any amount of produce goes forward the coming fall races bid fair to be more remunerative than they were last spring, as there will not be so much competition in the business, many of the lake vessels having since then gone into the European trade. Two or three vessels were chartered last week for wheat to Buffalo at 3½ and 4c.

The following are the current rates to the principal ports:

	Flour, (by steam.)	Wheat.	Oats.
To Buffalo	15c	3½c	2½c
To Oswego.....	—	3½c	3½c

FLOUR—Receipts were 979 barrels, against 1,528 for the previous week; and shipments 1 265 bbls, against 3,336. The market was very stagnant all the week. Prices have not materially changed since the date of our last weekly report, though the market closes with more firmness, in consequence of a slight improvement in eastern prices. We give what few sales were reported: Monday, 100 bbls "Stone Mills" spring extra (city) at $4.75; 50 bbls inferior country extra at $3.75, and 20 bbls rye flour at $3.50. Wednesday, 70 bbls "Cambridge Mills" spring extra at $4; 75 bbls "Milwaukee" do at $4.25; and 50 bbls "Constitution" (a new and very superior brand) at $4.50. Thursday, 20 bbls w. w., to arrive, at $4.75; 20 bbls fine flour at $3.50; 10 bbls rye flour at $3.50. Friday, 50 bbls "Excelsior's" spring extra at $3.75; and 80 bbls fine flour at $3.00 bbl "Superior" spring extra at $4.

WHEAT—Receipts 12,003 bushels, against 10,437 for the previous week; and shipments 12,700 bus, against 21,865. As will be observed, receipts have not increased much since the date of our last weekly report; but what has come in was mostly new, which is an indication that the old crop is pretty much all out of the hands of producers. A good demand existed all through the week, both for export and milling, but receipts were so uniformly light, and consequently so few buyers in market, that prices maintained an unusual steadiness, and though we can report a firmer market, we have to repeat old quotations, viz: 85@86c for old No. 1 in store; 70 to 78c for old and 76@80c for new extra club. The Chamber of Commerce some time since appointed a committee to raise the standard of inspection for the new crop, it being much superior to that of last year, but we understand that the committee have deferred action until enough of the new wheat comes in to enable them more somewhere near a correct estimate of the average quality of the crop. On this account, therefore, a good deal of irregularity will be noticed in the sales reported below. A very considerable portion of the new wheat that came in last week, according to our present inspection, would grade as "Extra No. 1," and sold at prices ranging from 84 to 70c, generally. We give the principal transactions as they occurred: Monday—400 bus new extra club at 65c. Tuesday—75 bus old No. 1 at 83c; 190 bus do at 86c; 76 bus new wheat 65c; 240 bus do at same price; 200, and 250 bus do at 70c, 90 bus old extra at 85c, and 8,000 bus do at 70c on track. Wednesday—1,800 bus new, between No. 1 and extra (uninspected) at 66@ 850 bus inferior new at 60c; 900 do at 65c; 600 bus extra No. 1 f. o. b. at 66c; 1,500 bus old do at same price in store. Thursday—500 bus old No. 1 spring at 86c; 500 bus old extra No. 1 at 66c; 97 bus new at 61c; 2300 do fl'e at 61c; 250 do club at 65c; 250 bus do at 67c; 125 bus do at 68c; 81 bus old extra at 70c; 250 bus new do at 72c; 100 bus very choice at 75c. Friday—300 bus No 1 at 56c; 2,500 bus uninspected at 55c; 125 bus new at 64c; 275 bus new fife at 65c; 350 bus new extra club at 75c; 100 bus very choice do at 80c; 175 bus red winter at 75c; 47 bus w. w. at 75c; 125 bus do at 81c. Saturday, the market closed firm with an upward tendency in prices. Sales were: 1,500 bus old No. 1 at 85c; 100 bus new No. 1 (uninspected) at 65c; 250 bus do at 69c; 150 bus new extra No. 1 at 74c; 200 bus new extra at 74c; 250 bus do at 77c; 350 bus do at 78c; and 200 bus choice do at 80c.

OATS—Receipts 5,383 bus, against 998 for the week previous; and shipments —— bus, against 12,000. There was scarcely enough in to supply the local demand, and prices were run up to 30@32c, but the market closed weak at a decline of 1@2c on the prices prevalent a week ago. Sales were as follows: Monday—225 bus at 25c; 100 bus at 26c. Tuesday—1,500 burnt 30c; 200 bus at 31c, and 300 bus at 31½. Wednesday—300 bus at 30c; 150 bus do at 29c; 400 bus uncertain new at 28c. Thursday—200 bus at 28c; 125 bus 26c. Friday—75 bus at 26c; 300 bus at 28c. Saturday—250 bus new at 27c; 240 bus at 28c; and 250 bus choice old at 29c.

CORN—Receipts were 502 bus, against 747 for the previous week. Shelled firm at 60@61c.

BARLEY—Receipts 40 bus. There is not much demand for it at present, and we can only quote it nominal at 40 to 45c.

RYE—Receipts 87 bus, against 405 for the previous week. The mills are not running, and consequently there is not much demand for it at present. Prices nominal at 50@55c.

POTATOES—Very plenty, such as they are, and quite dull just now. On Saturday some of the small sand sold at 30c. The range is about 40 to 55c for ordinary to very choice qualities.

EGGS—Coming in freely, and selling at 7 and 8c by the barrel.

BUTTER—Receipts 7,271 pounds. Steady, with an enquiry for good qualities. Firkin 10@12½c; roll and choice jar 12@14c.

HIDES—Receipts 20,715 lbs, against 25,145 for the previous week. Market steady at the following quotations: Green 6¾@7c; do salted 7¾@8½c; dry salted 12@13c; dry flint 14@15c.

SKINS—Highwinks 24c in large quantities; whiskey 27@28c; alcohol 26c; burning fluid 26c.

LUMBER—Receipts for the week:

Lumber, feet.....	675,000
Shingles cut to average.....	50,000
Lath	50,000
Sash and Pickets	200,000

Sales during the week:

Cargo of J. & A. Stronach, from Manistee, mixed, at $7; terms cash.

Cargo of sch. Buena Vista, from Manistee, mixed, at $7.50; terms cash.

Cargo of sch. Juniata Patton, from Green Bay, mixed, at $5.50; cash.

Cargo of sch. Florence, from Muskegon, mixed, at $6.50; cash.

Cargo of sch. Farmer, from Muskegon, at $6.50.

No change in retail prices, though there is a strong downward tendency, and we should not be surprised at a decline before the week closes.

FRUIT—Green apples $2.75@3 ₰ bbl; market glutted, and now is a good opportunity to buy cheap. No change in prices of other fruit.

PROVISIONS—Declining. Mess pork $16.50, prime do $13.00 ₰ bbl; tallow 11@12½c; lard 12c.

LIVE STOCK—The cattle market was well supplied, and prices declined 50 to 75c ₰ cwt. The range was about $2 to $2.50. For ordinary to prime cattle. Hogs sold at $5.25 to $5.50, live weight.

H. CARLISLE.

Many other testimonials from heavy eastern manufacturers might be seen at my office, where the public are invited to call and examine them. Also, a number of which will at all times be kept on hand to supply the demand. Also, a large wheel is now running in the Machine Mill and other Machinery necessary for the manufacture of Sash, Doors and Blinds, for the manufactory of the Excelsior Wheel. Shop on Canal Street, where any and all are invited to call and examine it under practical test, and a motion of 700 revolutions per minute. For further information address the proprietor,
